

A MERCH LINE BY OCTAVIA THE GREAT

Everybody is the great of something.

A statement on a shirt travels farther than the artist who wrote it. Octavia already has the words: be confident it is gon' work, I really want you to win, dear person behind me. The Great is her name and her crown. Six simple pieces, one idea each, made for people who have never heard a single song.

01 THE GREAT

Crown over 大

The identity mark. 大 means great, and looks like a person with arms open. Anyone can claim it.

02 IT'S GON' WORK

大丈夫 daijōbu

Japan's everyday way of saying it will be okay. Her line, worn quietly.

03 I WANT YOU TO WIN

For the person behind you

A back print that says: I really want you to win. From the person in front of you. The reason someone buys one for a friend.

THE DIRECTION

Quiet and weighted, like Uniqlo UT. Small mark on the chest, large calm message on the back. Heavyweight boxy fit, matte print. Woven label, hang tag, a small red seal, a vertical hit on the sleeve.

Real words only. Just 大 and 大丈夫, checked by a native reader before print. No waves, suns, or costume.
